Make It A MEMORABLE Holiday . . .

Thursday is Memorial Day, a day which along with all its more serious aspects, also marks the traditional beginning of Summer and the cookout season. Dad, who generally won't even help with the dishes, suddenly becomes a cook second only to Oscar of the Waldorf. Donning a chef's cap and gaudy apron, he grills steaks and mixes salad dressings with considerable aplomb. For many many years, we have been the headquarters for Dads, and Moms too, who like to cook outdoors. We're famous for extra thick steaks, chops and chickens for the grill, franks and hamburgers too. We have everything you need for fresh, crisp salads . . . plus paper plates, etc., to give the dishwashers a rest too. Whatever you plan for outdoor eating, you'll find the best at your Gristede's.
