Carey Serving On Sub-Commission Of United Nations

Rye City Councilman John Carey is participating this month in the 18th session of the United Nations Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities. The Sub-Commission which is meeting this year at U.N. Headquarters in New York City, is a subsidiary body of the U.N. Commission on Human Rights.

Mr. Carey, who is a partner in the law firm of Coudert Brothers, is serving as alternate United States member of the 14-man Sub-Commission by designation of the principal U.S. member, Dean C. Clyde Ferguson, Jr. of Howard University Law School, with the consent of the U.S. State Department. The other Sub-Commission members are from France, Philippines, United Kingdom, Sudan, Poland, Israel, Italy, Austria, Soviet Union, Mexico, Costa Rica, India, and Finland.

In a speech last Thursday at the Sub-Commission meeting, Mr. Carey called attention to the work done in the Dominican Republic in 1965 by the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights. He also suggested that the Sub-Commission formally welcome the General Assembly's unanimous adoption in December of a convention on Elimination of Racial Discrimination.

Mr. Carey lives with his wife, Patricia, and their three sons and daughter at 860 Forest Avenue.

Ludwig Olshansky In Rye Concert

The Rye Community Concert Association has a tradition of presenting young American-educated pianists in its annual series of musical programs. It is like attending a pre-Broadway production in New Haven's Schubert theatre. Who knows but what this may be tomorrow's first among piano artists?

Such a concert will be presented to Rye Community Concert Association members on Thursday, January 27, in the Rye High School auditorium. Ludwig Olshansky will be at the Steinway in a program of works by composers mainly of the Romantic period. This is a program sure to relax the now-welcome subway fatigue of commuters. These young artists are always interesting to listen to. They are dedicated, eager to please, and in their first zeal. American music schools turn out technical "wunderkinder" in large numbers. They will tackle any musical challenge and overcome it. Ludwig Olshansky is no exception. His virtuoso qualities have been hailed from coast to coast for the past six years. He has been compared to pianistic greats. His musical education was acquired at the Juilliard School from which he has received two academic degrees. He has won several music scholarships and awards. Complimentary quotes about him are numerous, the most distinguished being from that most literate of newspapers, the Christian Science Monitor, which says of him that "no apologies will be needed for his appearance in a world of prodigious pianists".

A musical series such as that of the Rye Community Concerts presents a platform from which young musicians can entertain and grow. A result of the democratic process, such platforms are preferable, in this writer's opinion, to government subsidized music common abroad. These young musicians find it necessary to produce successfully in order to advance in their career. They must face the critical audience of average Americans as well as of musical specialists. Thus culture takes its natural place in society as an embellishment to the life of all.

Mr. Olshansky will play Four Impromptus by Schubert, Chopin's

Sonata in B-flat Minor, op. 35, Valses nobles et sentimentales by Ravel and Three Rhapsodies by Brahms. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. and admission is by membership card.

Red Cross Seeking Volunteer Workers

When a hospital patient cannot write, its the Red Cross Gray Lady who writes letters for him. Gray Ladies also read to patients, do errands for the bedridden, help with ward parties, play games and plan recreation to help break the monotony of hospital routine. Volunteer Gray Ladies give the personal service that raises morale and speeds recovery.

"Additional Gray Lady volunteers are needed to continue our personal and recreational services at the Burke Foundation," said Allen C. Palmer, chairman of the Westchester County American Red Cross Chapter.

Gray Men have joined the ranks of the Gray Ladies who provide community contact and understanding to the patients at the FDR Veterans Administration Hospital. The volunteer men and women are important factors in the advancement of the recovery of the hospitalized veterans.

"Additional Gray Men and Gray Ladies are needed at the V.A. Hospital," Mr. Palmer said. "They will be trained by the Red Cross, as are all our volunteers, and oriented by the hospital staff to serve in the recreation, therapy and other programs. Join Red Cross Gray Lady and Gray Man Service, it needs you," the branch chairman urges local residents.

The Red Cross Motor Service, called "the wheels" of the Red Cross also needs additional drivers to transport volunteers who serve at a distance from their homes supplies and equipment. The volunteer drivers also transport blood from the chapter bank to fill emergency needs at countywide hospitals. They drive veterans on out-
