Hosting Young People From Brazil in Rye Homes This Summer

This summer several families in Rye will host members of a Brazilian group of the Experiment in International Living. Mrs. John Deacon and Mrs. Martin Edelman announced. The Experiment, a world-wide foreign visitors' program, aims to foster international understanding through exchange at the grass-roots level of family living.

Ten to twelve Brazilians, aged 18 to 30, are expected to arrive July 7 for a three-week homestay. They will be placed with appropriate families, with special consideration to early applicants.

Mesdames Edelman and Deacon are co-chairing the Rye program for the second and third years respectively. Mrs. Deacon and her family will host the group leader and most group meetings, and Mrs. Edelman will arrange administrative details and weekly group activities in the community.

Either Mrs. Deacon or Mrs. Edelman will accept calls from families in the shore area from New Rochelle to Port Chester who are interested in applying for the program.

ELF Continuing With Recycling Program

Rye High School's Environmental Liberation Front will hold its third weekly collection this Saturday. ELF collects aluminum, newspapers (tied in 10" bundles) and bottles sorted by color and with all metal removed. Newspapers can be brought only between 9 a.m. and 10:30 because of the early closing hour of the newspaper salvaging company. Aluminum and glass can be brought between 9 and 2. All materials will be collected in the parking lot near the girls' gym.

The past two Saturdays, ELF has successfully collected several tons of material and delivered it to reclamation centers. The program can continue, however, only if there
